STORY

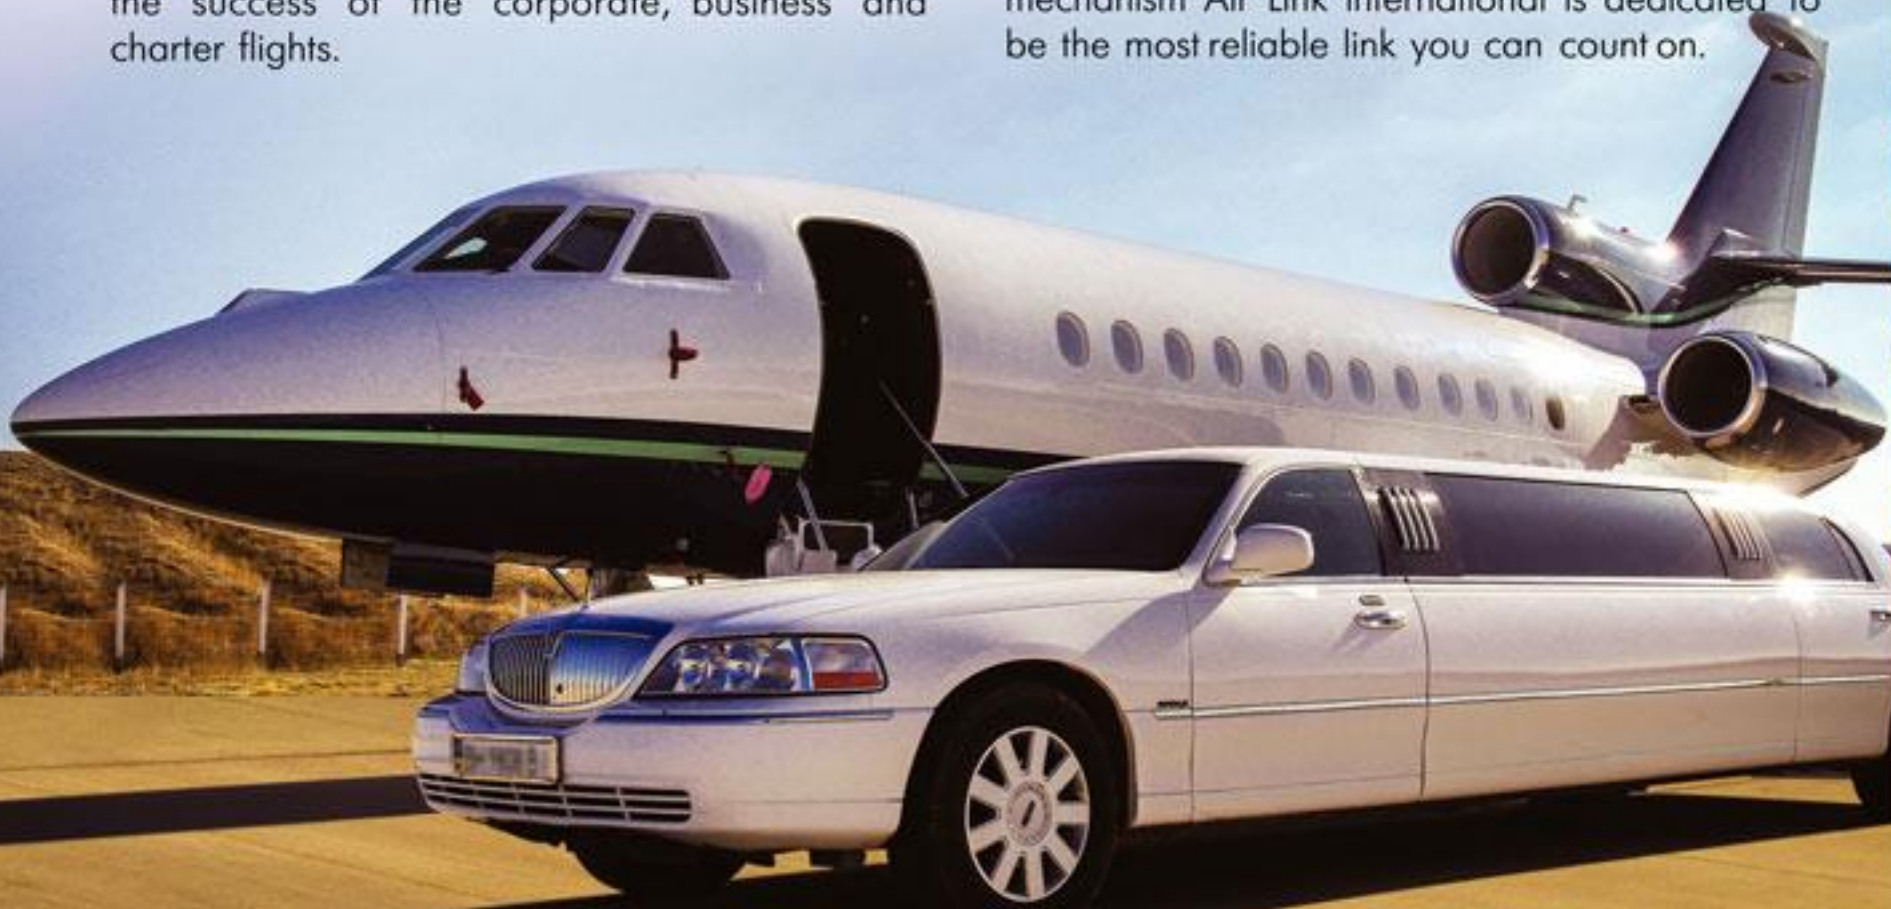

Air Link International was set up in the mid 1990's as a market response for the constantly growing number of corporate and business aviation flights to the countries of the former Soviet Union and particularly in Ukraine and Moldova. Trusting that the key to success was going hand in hand with the pilot's needs, Oleg Fridrik and Victor Yarishkin launched the first national aviation handling company in Ukraine to provide the whole spectrum of the ground and other related services for international aviation community operating flights to Ukraine and neighboring countries.

From the very beginning, the founders believed that by establishing very reliable, professional, highly responsive services, they would increase the productivity and the level of the success of the corporate, business and charter flights.

Starting business in 1995 from the home base in Odessa, Ukraine, Air Link International has considerably extended the network of its operations thus serving every airport of Ukraine and Moldova..

As pioneers of handling services in the young independent country Air Link International handled thousands of flights meeting sometimes impossible schedules. For the decade of business the company has accumulated invaluable experience in dealing with local civil aviation and airport authorities, fuel and catering suppliers that makes possible arrangement of any trip to our Ukrainian and Moldovian stations within the minutes after the request.

There's no question that today's business aviation marketplace demands a certain level of flexibility and quality of services to be provided by local handling companies. Being an integral part of the chain in the flight organization mechanism Air Link international is dedicated to be the most reliable link you can count on.

INVOICING AND CREDIT FACILITIES

Landing at an airport where no credit is established for fuel or landing/handling fees can greatly slow down the turnaround time due to bill processing, currency exchange problems, financial restrictions, customs problems, non-acceptance of the credit cards or partly acceptance by one or several suppliers only, slow communication circular between banks. Payment for last minutes changes also takes much time to process bill that makes crew nervous and result in delays and irritated previously boarded passengers. Such state of things greatly influences on their final satisfaction of the whole trip.

Air Link International offers our customers instant credit for payment of all the fees that may be incurred by the trip no matter standard landing/handling/fuel/catering package or special requests of the crew for visas, entries, passes, special catering needs, transportations and others.

Air operators eliminate the need to establish separate letters of credit or cash deposits with suppliers and airports. Cash can also be a dangerous factor in the view of the personal security.

Whether our locations are your planned destinations, technical stops or an unexpected diversion, you can avoid hassles by sending us application for handling with notification for credit set up. Our operations will confirm your application almost in no time.

Dealing with Air Link International you can be sure that you choose reliable handling company for your flights that cares about your flight requirements by offering own services and financial support.
